MUSICAL COMEDY TO BE REPEATED

Owing to the demand of the public, the recent musical comedy succes, "All Aboard," the John B. Rogers production presented by the high school, will be repeated for the benefit of the Norway Town Athletic Association, Thursday evening, May 31st, at 8:15.

The musical comedy proved to be a decided hit and those who saw it requested a repeat to give the others a chance to witness the big success.

Reports were around that this was just a usual musical comedy, but the cast of Norway put it over in such a manner that the committee and Mr. Weidmiller of the Rogers Co. decided to present it once more for the benefit of the Norway A. A. and also show the public just how a real successful musical comedy should run.

The same well chosen cast will take the leads and no changes could be made to present this success to better advantage. The price will be the same as before. The public will have a chance to show their support of the A. A. and also witness a show worth seeing.

The costumes and scenery were held over by Mr. Wiedmiller, the director, through the courtesy of the Rogers Co.

A matinee for the children will be put on in the afternon at 3:15.

"ALL ABOARD"

"All Aboard," the musical comedy presented at the Opera House last Friday evening, under the auspices of Norway High School, and staged and directed by Irving Wiedmiller of the John B. Rogers Producing Co., was one of the best entertainments ever given by the school.

The audience was not large, but everyone present was highly entertained as the whole show went with a snap from start to finish. Each of the principals carried out his or her part equally well. The dances and songs by the grade children were all well done and especially pretty was the dance of the sea nymphs and witches. The specialties which consisted of dances by Margaret Hill and Joe Smith of the Rogers Co., and solos by Mrs. E. H. Carritt of Oxford all came in for a large share of the applause. The cast of characters for this entertainment appeared in last week's paper.

Miss Sara True of Boston is spending a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. True. Tuesday morning, Miss True and her mother in company with Mr. and Mrs. Clayton L. Conary, Esq. for the respondent.

GUESS WHO?

In the little town of Norway,
Nestling back among the hills,
Dwells an enterprising Doctor,
Who guarantees to cure your ills.
He is always bright and cheerful,
Telling stories all day long,
But, when there's no gravy for his "taters,"
Then he sings a different song.
You can take away his biscuits,
Salads, meats, and even stews,
If you'll only give him gravy,
It will drive away his blues.
If he sat down to a table
Laden with an epicure's delight,
If the gravy should be missing,
He'd be mad enough to fight.
He loves candies, pies and pastries
'Cause they make him cut up capers,
But, Oh! Lordy, how that Doctor
Does love gravy on his taters.

Will Leavitt brought in the change for his ad, Tuesday, and referred to the headline in a paper on the desk, "Ford To Start Air Line Across Nation." He referred to the different advances—the cable, the telephone, etc., and told of his remembrance of the arrival of the "Express Rider" so that when he was a young boy in California, the great sport then for children was to play carrying the mail and being an "Express rider." "One day," he said, "It seems but yesterday, I was playing Express Rider and going full speed with a putty blower in my hand, when I stumbled, fell onto the blower, which went through my neck into my mouth. Jim Bryant, the boy I was playing with was mad, awful mad at me, for breaking his blower—but all I feared when I ran home was that I couldn't drink water for fear it would run out the hole."

Clarence W. Buck and L. H. Cushman are dealing in pulpwood and want a supply. Read their ad in this issue. We are also printing some letter paper for their business.

A party living on the lower side of the town clock says: "Say, I was glad to see that item in the Advertiser about the town clock being in darkness so much. I miss it when it is 'gone' and I hope it will be fixed soon. Why is it, it takes such a long time for the lights to get replaced when they go out?"

E. E. Howe of Portland was in, Tuesday, while on his way to Portland. He has been spending the past two weeks at his camp, Camp Deering, at Howard Pond in Hanover. He has had very good luck fishing, having caught a trout and a salmon, each measuring 24 inches and estimated to weigh in the vicinity of five pounds. Mr. Howe was returning to Portland to visit his friend a Mr. Gibson, who is ill and soon to enter a hospital and to take him a red spot which he was very anxious to sample.

Added to the list of "lost" articles awaiting ownership in this office, is a screw driver. This was found near the corner of Main and Pleasant Streets, Saturday afternoon, by Robert Hayden. Robert says that a Ford car stopped there for some repairs, and after they had gone on he noticed the screw driver in the road.

For two weeks no cross-word puzzles have appeared in this paper. Several have inquired about them. We also received this letter: "Editor Advertiser: I miss the cross-word puzzles and am sorry you are not printing them now." The company we purchased these cross-word puzzles from has informed us that they have discontinued making them.

Mrs. Sybil Chandler has attended to the advertising for W. S. Chandler while he is laid up with a lame foot.

Don C. Seitz sent the account of the burning of the church at Waterford from the Advertiser to Rev. Ernest Hamlin Abbott, who wrote Mr. Seitz as follows:

My dear Mr. Seitz: Thank you for sending me the clipping about the burning of the church at Waterford. It made my heart sink to think that thus had come to an end the efforts that Miss Gage and others had made to restore the old church to its pristine simplicity and beauty. These old meeting houses of New England are a testimony to the artistic sensitiveness of the old pioneers who established civilization in New England, and the loss of any one is a loss to the artistic treasures of the country. Very sincerely yours,

Ernest Hamlin Abbott.

Rev. Mr. Abbott, preached the sermon at the rededication of the church two years ago.

Mr. Tripp said that he thought this would be the best place to leave them for no one would think of asking him for them, for they wouldn't think he would see them. He also said, that last year he found some car keys, a fellow came along by a car and told him it was his car, but he couldn't start it. Mr. Tripp said, "I can start that car" and passed over the key he found. The party handed him two dollars.

From Don C. Seitz comes a view of a bronze tablet placed in a large boulder in honor of Mrs. Eliza Tibbetts, a Norway woman, who introduced the Navel orange into California. The picture also shows the parent Washington Navel orange tree, well supported and surrounded by a high iron fence. The inscription on the tablet is as follows:

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

The Abnaki Campfire Girls, under the direction of their guardian, Mrs. Helena Nelson, are presenting the three act comedy drama, "The Call of Wohelo," Friday evening, at the Universalist Church vestry with the following cast:

Ellen Ferris, guardian of the camp .... Alice Brown
Mrs. Vale, Camp Mother .... Pauline Blaquiere
Blue Bird (Owaissa), her young daughter .. Viola Brown
Wah-Wah-Taysee (Firefly), an Indian girl ... Sarah Thurston
Sylvia (Wayaka-See Beauty), a camp "misfit" ... Geraldine Paragard
Amy (Kee-wee-Rainbow Maid) Torch Bearer ... Cora Gurney
Marion (Disyadi-Moon Maid) a fire maker ... Mae McAllister
Emily (Minnehaha-Laughing Water), a wood gatherer .... Gwendolyn Bicknell
Constance (Gaoh, Spirit of the Wind), a wood gatherer .... Beatrice Gallant
Dorothy (To-he-ha, Humming Bird), a wood gatherer .... Nellie Gurney

The scene is a summer camp of the Campfire girls and into the story is woven much of the work of the Campfire, which makes it very interesting. The girls have been preparing the drama for several weeks and the evening promises to be one of enjoyment. The first act centers about the mysterious Indian Maiden; the second, is the capture of the Ghost, who proves something of a sensation. The third, is the Council Fire and more disclosures. A dance will follow the play and the high school orchestra will furnish music.

The Campfire Girls met last week at the home of Pauline Blaquiere. They have made a start on a contest with Mae McAllister and Sara Thurston as the Captains. The points to be earned are: new members, five points; attendance, one point; every two honors earned, one point; rank, one point. The contest ends June 6th when a Council fire will be held. The girl who wins the most points for her side will be given a small reward. The winners will be guests of honor at either a party or a supper, as is decided later. The girls have completed a Layette which they presented the Norway Nursing service and which is appreciated. Two more have been given the Red Cross, and they are starting the fourth one. The girls will march in uniform on Memorial Day.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY POPPY DAY

The William Henry Stone Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary asks the cooperation of the citizens of Norway in making the Poppy Sale, on Saturday, May 26, a success.

In the critical days of 1917-18 this town gave its full measure of manhood, it financial resources and its patriotic service. Ten years have passed and today men who fearlessly soared the air are doomed to the prison of a chair or bed. Many who marched away in the eager joy and strength of youth, walk haltingly, supported by crutches. Never again for them will the drums beat and the bugles call to speed them, shoulder to shoulder, with their marching comrades. The poppies sold on Poppy Day are made by such men as these, to some of whom it is the sole course of income and all money received from the sale is pledged for welfare work.

Will you wear a poppy this Memorial Day?

As an introduction to the Legion Auxiliary Poppy Sale a pleasing program has been arranged to be given at 8 o'clock, Friday evening, May 25, at the Legion Hall. Mrs. Bertha S. STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

"good morning, motor"

"GOOD morning, Boss. Say, could you spare me for an hour down at the garage? I don't feel just right. Shouldn't wonder if the gear shift or diffy needed some grease. Or maybe the clutch is slipping. Those birds never have much to say for themselves, but they do a lot of work and get awful mean when they don't feel right. When you have two pieces of steel working together, they are like a couple of strange bull terriers if you don't feed them plenty of oil and grease."

A NEW PLEASURE IN MOTORING FOR A FEW CENTS MORE A GALLON

WATCH those cars that draw up beside the Socony Special pump—new cars with high compression motors and veterans still going strong despite their carbonized cylinders.

Their owners are paying more a gallon—for what?

Not for transportation exactly. They could save the few cents, get Socony Gasoline, be absolutely protected against fuel troubles, and match mileage and upkeep records with anybody. No, the owners of these cars are looking for something different, and getting it. They are getting a perceptible improvement in the pick-up of the motor in traffic, a little more silk in the sound of its purr, a little more power on the steep hills, and a gratifying absence of knocking.

They're getting, in brief, a new and exciting pleasure in motoring, worth far more than the few extra cents they pay. Like Socony Gasoline and Socony Motor Oil, Socony Special is tested thirteen times before it reaches your car.

Let your motor be the judge

Cromett vs Mitchell

D. Cromett Clark Takes Exceptions to F. E. Mitchell's Statement in Last Issue of Advertiser

Friend Sanborn: I am surprised to find myself catching both glory and damnation in this week's Norway Advertiser. Your Summer correspondent wants to glorify me, because I praised a bit of unusual and good newspaper work from his writing machine. Well, I enjoy being appreciated, myself.

Mr. Mitchell of New Hampshire is "delighted" to have amused me with his notion on the Americanism of Hoover and Smith. "Delighted," but his letter breathes damnation for me. I commiserate him on his feelings. I will be sixty years old when three years older, and have learned to find amusement, and to laugh instead of fume or cry, when other people have notions different from my own. It is comforting and there is more amusement.

Now just a bit as to his ideas of Hoover. Perhaps Mr. Mitchell recalls the fact that in war time, American bids for electrical supplies to Sweden had to pass through British censors' hands, and were so delayed that they did not reach Sweden until after bids were closed, and English bidders had received the awards of contracts. In similar ways, England was playing tricks on the United States, even after this country entered the war. Hoover would not stand for those tricks, and the English hate him, as would be expected. Hoover helped the Belgians instead of the English, that is the English grievance, and it is a big one, as Mr. Mitchell ought to be aware, if his sentiment toward England really is the same as was his great great grandfather's.

Two of my great grandfathers fought in the American patriot forces, from Lexington and Concord to Yorktown on sea and on land both, and one of them was behind the breastworks at Bunker Hill. Two other great grandfathers of mine lived in Ireland, belonged to "the fighting race," and had no reason to love England. It seems queer if a man with one great great grandfather in the American Continental army is qualified to twit me of his anti-English ancestry.

We called it Hooverizing in war time, when food was alloted. It was a misnomer, for Hoover did not order it. He took charge of the food distribution according to plans prepared by President Wilson's food commission, which commission included big men in business, agriculture, and the labor unions. His job was to carry out those plans made by those other men. I think it would be to Hoover's credit if he had made the plans, and I also think it would have been unpatriotic if Hoover had not been a "good servant for Wilson" in war time.

If Hoover never raised the question of partisanship until certain men tried to make political capital from his reputation and he then promptly defined his affiliation as a Republican. He had not been a Democrat at all, not even posed as a Democrat.

Three of Mr. Mitchell's complaints against Hoover are inaccurate and another is a thing that certainly is to Hoover's credit. Let me add that his other complaints against Hoover are equally or more inaccurate and that this can be proved by the records of the Congressional committees which reviewed the conduct of the war and the organizations that did work incidental to the war.

Will Irwin has written a life of Hoover. I am going to get it, and at the risk of asking you to do some free advertising I will, without reading the book, recommend that the doubters read it. Irwin has the capacity for telling such a story, and he is cognizant of the facts, but one cannot help wondering if the book will be large enough to contain full records of Hoover's achievements. It should be remembered that when Hoover was called to the Belgian relief work he was already one of the world's outstanding figures because of the great things that he had accomplished in engineering and in business, and was known as such among men who watch the news of business.

I am somewhat selfish. It will be more agreeable for me to write things to sell for money than to carry on a controversy, when there is no prospect of being paid for what is written. So the Man at Alton, N. H., may have the last word.

—D. Cromett Clark

The Landau Sedan Body by Fisher

With special sport equipment, no smarter car than this

Smart as a racing craft to begin with. Long and low . . . with rakish, youthful lines. But with special sport equipment . . . it's even smarter. The peer of any car in its class.

Six wire wheels . . . their colors contrasting with body shades. Spares carried jauntily forward in special fender wells. A trunk rack behind . . . suggesting a series of week-end journeys. There's real style, if you ever saw it. There's swank . . . snap . . . personality.

Add to all this the charm of bodies by Fisher. The deep-cushioned comfort and luxury that Fisher bodies provide. Then you'll find the All-American Six leagues ahead of any rival. And you'll marvel again at its truly remarkable price.

ANOTHER PLEA FOR THE TREES

The kindliest thing God ever made,
His hand of very healing laid
Upon a fevered world, is shade.
* * * *
This is God's hospitality,
And whoso rests beneath a tree,
Hath cause to thank him gratefully.

Once upon a time there was a tree. A "perfect white birch" that reared it's head Godward. It had been a landmark for years. There it had rested in all it's purity, a psalm of beauty. In storm or sunshine it was like an old stately Victorian. Even when etched against a background of thunder heads, it stood forth in silver majesty, or in all its white beauty through the sunset. Yes, this tree was a green leaved prayer, a benediction to the dying day and breezing a paen of joy to the morn.

Once upon a time and that time was last week, there was this perfect tree on the roadside of a lovely little village, that village is yours and mine. Tourists walked Pleasant Street Hill to see the "perfect white birch" and many photographs have been taken of it. Autoists rushing past, have caught a glimpse of this tree, and have looked until it was lost in the curve of the road. But this tree had to come down.

One morning it lay like a huge white corpse on the ground and as early as six o'clock five neighbors came to view it, all within fifteen minutes of each other and neither man knows to this day that the other was there. When a man, a busy business man, takes the trouble to walk up a hill and look at a fallen tree at six A. M., that man loves trees.

The owner, who is a neighbor of the writer's, had a right, a perfect right to cut down the tree, unless she had wished to sacrifice her personal good to the good of the community.

Another beautiful tree, a horse-chestnut of large growth, was cut down on the very corner of Pleasant Street when the most unsightly gasoline station was built. The writer's pen wants to say that this tree was sacrificed to the greed of man—the word man is merely used in the general sense.

The town seems to be remiss in keeping its eyes open and preserving its wooded highways for future generations to say nothing of the tourists who bring wealth to the town and state. It takes a long time to awaken people to the value of trees. In a recent magazine there is a remarkable cartoon on this very subject, called, "While The Watchman Sleeps." Uncle Sam is leaning against a tree asleep. Destruction, with an axe in one hand, and a torch in the other, comes stealing along to open the door into our American Forests. The artist won the prize, conducted by the American Tree Association.

Many of us not only hope, but we urge the village of Norway to see that its roadsides are protected by keeping all the trees we have, other than those that must be used necessarily for homes and firesides.

—Elva Dorr

TREES

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree;
A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

The argument is: O Kashi Kintara, a young student of noble lineage, falls in love with O Hara San, the only child of Kanaya. Finding that his love is returned, he seeks her hand in marriage. Reluctantly Kanaya consents to the marriage on condition that it take place in a year's time. O Kashi Kintara leaves Japan to study in America and remains away almost a year. In the meantime, Prince Nashimoto Fushimi seeks O Hara San's hand and Kanaya agrees to his suit if O Kashi Kintara does not return within the year's time. High School Agricultural Contest

To Be Held at Orono

Invitations have just been sent by Dean Leon S. Merrill of the college of agriculture to the teachers of Agriculture in secondary schools in Maine for the third annual contest of high school agricultural teams to be held at the University of Maine, May 25 and 26. On those days it is expected that boys from the 20 high schools in which agriculture is taught will vie with each other in judging cattle and potatoes, tying knots, putting up a scaffold hitch, rope splicing and poultry killing. This is the first year that the scaffold hitch contest has been included in the program and is likely to test the ability of the boys and furnish some interesting and perhaps humorous competition. In this event two boys will work together, using a 10 to 12 foot plank. They must make the hitch, raise themselves four feet on the plank, secure the plank change ends without getting to the ground, lower the plank again and untie the hitch. This is a somewhat novel feature and is expected to create unusual interest.

As for the previous two contests, three cups are being offered, one for the team scoring highest in cattle judging, another for the team making the best showing in judging potatoes and a third to the school scoring the highest number of points in all contests and known as the grand championship cup. The South Paris boys carried away both the potato judging and the grand championship cup last year while their near neighbors, Norway, took home the cattle judging trophy.

Each school is entitled to send five boys regularly enrolled in the agricultural course to take part in the competition accompanied by the teacher of agriculture. There were 55 boys took part in the first contest and 85 in the second. It is expected that this year an even larger number will be on hand a week from next Friday. Prof. H. S. Hill of the department of agricultural education, college of agriculture, is in charge of the contest, being the director of secondary agricultural school work in the state. He will be assisted by teachers in the college of agriculture.

Heretofore the contest has been held in the fall, but for several reasons it seemed best to change it to spring, no contest having been held in 1927.

Cattle judging is the first contest which will take place at 2 p. m. on Friday. A team of three boys will be required to judge two classes each of Jerseys and Holsteins. Next will occur the potato judging in which each team will judge four lots of potatoes.

Saturday forenoon the poultry killing and the scaffold hitch contest will be conducted followed by the other events. Saturday afternoon the boys have been invited to be guests at the Maine-Bates baseball game.

The schools to which invitations have been sent and the agricultural teacher in each case are, as follows: Anson Academy, Earle T. Blodgett; Caribou High School, Perley F. Harmon; East Corinth Academy, Clayton A. Storer; Fort Fairfield High School, Ray M. Carter; Greely Institute, John Downing; Hampden Academy, Frank J. McDonald; Houlton High School, Harlan J. Emery; Lee Academy, Theodore S. Curtis; Leavitt Institute, George Hilton; Limestone High School, Prescott Thornton; Monmouth Academy, John Snell; Newport High School, Joseph B. Man So Nervous Feels His Stomach Jump

"I got so nervous my stomach felt like it was jumping. Vinol entirely relieved the trouble. I feel better than in years." —J. C. Duke.

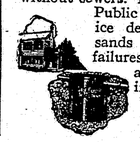

Vinol is a compound of iron, phosphates, cod liver peptone, etc. The very FIRST bottle makes you sleep better and have a BIG appetite. Nervous, easily tired people are surprised how QUICK the iron, phosphates, etc., give new life and pep. Vinol tastes delicious. L. V. Ashton, Druggist.

YOU CAN RELY ON McCORMICK-DEERING SPREADERS FOR GOOD WORK.

The time and labor you save by using a McCormick-Deering Spreader amounts to cash equivalent to a substantial payment. The increased crop production you can get by spreading manure evenly and thinly on more acres will lower production costs so much that you cannot afford to continue hand spreading.

The patented widespread spiral on the McCormick-Deering accounts for the exceptionally wide spread. It is never necessary to drive on freshly spread manure.

The light draft of McCormick-Deering spreaders increases the durability and makes possible spreading full-capacity loads without overloading teams. Their durability extends the purchase price over years of continuous usage.

Now is the time to spread manure and today is the day to ask us for prices.

Lesson for May 27

THE WICKED HUSBANDMEN

LESSON TEXT—Mark 12:1-12; 13:1-37.

GOLDEN TEXT—Jehovah knoweth the way of the righteous; but the way of the wicked shall perish.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Some Wicked People Punished.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Wicked Husbandmen.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Playing Fair With God.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Misuse of National Privilege.

I. Demanding the Fruit of His Vineyard (Mark 12:1-12).

1. The man (v. 1).

The certain man who planted the vineyard is God Himself.

2. The vineyard (v. 1).

This means Israel (See Isa. 5:1-7, Jer. 2:21, Ps. 80:8).

The Lord went to particular pains to make this nation separate. He bestowed peculiar favors upon it.

3. The husbandmen (v. 1).

These were the rulers and teachers of Israel, even members of the Sanhedrin. They were the spiritual guides of the people.

4. Servants sent for the fruit of the vineyard (vv. 2-5).

These were the various prophets whom God sent to the nation. The maltreatment and rejection of the prophets are fully set forth in the Scriptures.

5. The well-beloved son sent (vv. 6-8).

The son here is the Lord Jesus Christ, God's only and beloved Son. He came into their midst.

6. Their punishment (vv. 9-12).

Jesus now asked them for their own verdict upon such villainous ingratitude. He took the place of a judge and pronounced judgment upon them on the basis of their own verdict. They not only rejected the kingdom but the Son who was King; therefore the kingdom was taken from them and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof.

II. The Son of Man Coming In Glory (13:1-37).

This is part of the well known Olivet discourse. It gives a prophetic view of the course of time from its utterance just before the crucifixion to the second advent of Christ. Two great facts are before us in this prophetic utterance, the destruction of Jerusalem and the second coming of Christ. The one was near, having taken place within forty years of the crucifixion of Christ; the other is still future. The order of events as outlined are:

1. Moral condition of the world during Christ's absence (vv. 1-13).

This pictures the present age and the result of preaching the gospel in this age many shall come saying, "I am Christ and shall deceive many." There shall be wars and rumors of wars. Nation shall be pitted against nation and kingdom against kingdom, with earthquakes in divers places, accompanied with famine and pestilence. The witnesses of Christ shall be persecuted and arraigned before rulers and kings. Brother shall betray brother to death and the father the son. Children will rise up against their parents and cause them to be put to death. The preachers of the gospel shall be hated for Christ's sake.

2. The days of the tribulation (vv. 14-23).

In this time the Antichrist will appear according to the prophecy of Daniel. So severe will be the persecution that except the Lord shorten the days no flesh could be saved, but for the elect's sake the days shall be shortened.

3. The great advent (vv. 24-31).

This shall be preceded by great physical disturbances in the world. The moon shall be darkened, the stars of heaven shall fall. "Then shall they see the Son of Man coming in the clouds with great power and glory and He will gather His elect from the uttermost parts of the earth and heaven."

4. Instructions in view of the coming of the Lord (vv. 32-34).

The day and the hour of His coming are unknown to man. In view of this uncertainty we should watch and pray.

III. Warnings.

Running through the thirteenth chapter is the exhortation to take heed. In teaching the lesson it would be well to gather them up in their order.

1. Take heed against deceivers (v. 5).

2. Take heed to yourselves (v. 9)

3. Take heed against the time of the Lord's coming (v. 33).

The one command to all is "watch."

The Cross and Discipleship

The cross is the pattern of service and suffering for the disciples of Christ. The great demand of Jesus was and is for people who can suffer. It is of no use trying to get the cross out of discipleship. They go together and will, until the world has been redeemed.—Charles Brown.

The next regular meeting will work the third and fourth degrees and there will be a social hour with refreshments.

FARM MANAGEMENT MEETINGS

Donald W. Reed, state farm management demonstrator, together with County Agent Ridley, were holding farm management meetings in South Paris and Waterford, Thursday and Friday evenings of last week. In these two communities were found enough farm account cooperators so that a community summary of their farm accounts could be made, and each man could therefore compare his own farm with the average of the other farms in the community.

Men who are keeping farm accounts are finding out just where they stand in their farm business, what enterprises are paying and which are not, and the relation between the size of the farm enterprise units and profit and loss.

The evening meetings were called to help these men in reading their farm account summaries with a view towards making those changes which seem most advisable from the standpoint of labor income.

STOW

As I believe it does a fellow more good to speak a good word for him before he is dead, than it does to sing so much about him after he is laid away in that little and often times neglected spot on some bleak and barren hillside, I want to say a few words in regard to one of Stow's most respected and oldest living men and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Guptill. They were married, Sept. 26th, 1866, and have lived most of their lives in Stow and Chatham, N. H., our neighboring town, and really one Community. B. F. Guptill is 88 years old last February, while "Aunt Cass", as Mrs. Guptill is called, is 86. Her maiden name was Cassandra Hodge of Jackson, N. H. Mr. Guptill has always been a hard working man, whose word was as good as his bond and what Frank Guptill told you, you could depend on. He has occupied many positions of trust, a good accommodating neighbor and townsman, a kind father, and husband and all the good you can say of him can be said of Mrs. Guptill. I consider them the most ideal couple this country has ever produced, always kind, always helpful to those in trouble, whether you were in trouble or not, you always felt better for a visit to them and as they are growing old together, lets hope they may live many more years to enjoy the fruits of an industrious life and the companionship of their son, Wallace, and his wife, who are giving them all the loving care anyone possibly can give. Besides Wallace, the son, who has always lived at home, they have a son, James Guptill, who lives at North Waterford, also three daughters, Cora, who lives in Gilead, Mrs. Clarence Day, who lives in Lovell and Mrs. Herbert Hanscom, who lives in Fryeburg, also five grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Now here's hoping our grandest old couple may live and enjoy the best of all there is and round out the century mark and then some.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Tyler of South Paris, visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Emerson of Stow and at Frank Harriman's in Chatham.

E. O. Jewett of Fryeburg called on Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McKeen, recently.

Mrs. Charles Harmon spent one day recently at J. A. Hanscom's.

Cecil Fernald and wife and son of Jackson, N. H., spent May 13 at William M. Sanborn's, also Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hurd and Dora, took dinner with them.

Mr. and Mrs. King, of Jackson, called on Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wiggin, May 13.

Maurice Eastman is holding the road machine for our patrolman, laying out the 50-50 fund. Ned Bryant is driving and Sidney Sanborn is helping level.
